

The Scalable Founder

Scaling the Company, the Team, & Yourself

The “scalable” founder learns to overcome personal challenges, pushing the limits to achieve lasting success. Failure to manage individual demons can doom a company and destroy friendships. Personal growth may be one of the toughest challenges an entrepreneur may face. Only those who learn how to grow personally will survive and thrive — scaling the company, scaling the team, and “scaling” themselves.

If you are a founder or are thinking about starting a company, join us on Thursday, November 2, for a fireside conversation with Jacques Benkoski and Mark Coopersmith. Hear from two seasoned entrepreneurs and investors about the seldom-addressed personal challenges you will face in growing your startup and how to overcome them.

Among the topics Jacques and Mark will address:

- Navigating founding, funding and growth
- Surviving near-death experiences (and you will have them)
- Working with your board and other key stakeholders
- Maintaining perspective

Note: Tickets will NOT be available at the door, so register today.

Jacques Benkoski
Partner
U.S. Venture Partners

Mark Coopersmith
Senior Fellow and Faculty Director
UC Berkeley, Haas School of Business

Thursday, November 2, 2017
6:00 pm – 8:30 pm

6:00 pm:
Networking reception.
(light food, wine, beer, & beverages)

7:00 pm:
Moderated discussion (with Q&A)

San Francisco SOMA
(Location details will be sent via email to ticket holders.)

Only $35 for this unique event.

Register using this code or the URL below.

